Spadaccini Homes wins top Western Australia home title

June 18, 2022

A spectacular house overlooking the beach has won the 2022 Master Builders-Bankwest Top WA Home award in a year of extraordinary changes and challenges for the state's housing industry.

Spadaccini Homes carried off the top prize at the 2022 Master Builders-Bankwest Housing Excellence Awards for their North Beach masterpiece. The 42nd annual awards was a great way for Master Builders Association of Western Australia to host builders, subcontractors, suppliers, partners and members after a tough two years of dealing with the ever-shifting pandemic restrictions. Over 30 judges assessed over 300 housing entries across 29 categories.

The residence is a multi-level home perched on the forefront of the beach designed to maximise glorious beach views. Architecturally designed, the resort style home boasts well considered spaces, including a fully equipped gym area with kitchenette, pool, sauna and steam room. The home consists of 4 bedrooms, 5 bathrooms, living, dining, kitchen and study. There is a stand-alone studio with 4-car garage, living, kitchen, bedroom and bathroom facilities. A must-see is the state-of-the-art walk in robe constructed within the master bedroom.

A prime example of the beauty and complexity of the design is the spiral staircase, created from a single pipe and cut into curled handrails.

Chief Judge Robert Shaw said the top home exceeded all expectations in attention to detail.

"The entries in this year's awards have surpassed anything our judges expected. It has been a tough 12 months for our industry, so to see such high-quality homes shows how resilient our industry is.

"The home sits on the forefront of North Beach and has all the incredible views West Coast Drive can offer.

"These top-tier homes tend to have a smaller margin for error given their grandeur. The complex nature of The Peak is a testament to the talent and expertise present within Spadaccini Homes and something they should all be proud of."

Spadaccini Homes and Hardrock Plastering were also recognised as Tradesperson of the Year Winners for their work on the North Beach home, other major categories included Adrian Zorzi for Best Country Home, Atrium Homes for Best Display Home and Xon Construction for Best Alterations and Additions.

The housing excellence awards showcase and reward members for demonstrating first-quality craftsmanship, commitment to building excellence and the highest professional standards.

Master Builders Executive Director John Gelavis was impressed by the high calibre of entries in a uniquely difficult year.

“During such unprecedented times, we were pleased to see our members continuing to strive for excellence.

“It has been an extremely challenging year, and despite setbacks, we have seen some incredible work produced,” Mr Gelavis said.

The awards were held on June 18 at Crown Perth.

The eligible WA winners will compete against the best of other states and territories at the Master Builders National Excellence in Building and Construction Awards in the Hunter Valley, New South Wales.
